URBAN WALKS

INDIA HABITAT CENTRE

India Habitat Centre embodies philosophy of "buildings in the garden" where red-brick forms rise gently from layered courts and greens, dissolving the boundary between architecture and landscape.

Ar. Sanjoy Paul

The Council of Architecture invites Architectural students to a special guided walk at India Habitat Centre (IHC), led by Ar. Sanjoy Paul.

A B.Arch (Hons) graduate from Jadavpur University and MBEM (Distinction) from School of Planning and Architecture Delhi, he served as Project Manager at IHC (1992-1996) during its formative years, where he closely interacted with Joseph Allen Stein and gained first-hand insight into the Centre's architectural vision and execution.

Currently Executive Director at TCG, he brings extensive experience in development strategy, design management, procurement, and real estate leadership across major Indian cities.

Join this walk to understand the design philosophy, planning strategies, and legacy of IHC through the experience of a professional directly associated with its making.
